Sansepolcro - Perugia - Florence · 17-18-19 June 2011

The Accounting History Commission of the Spanish Association for Accounting and Business Management (AECA) promoted in 2009 the First International Conference to remember the day of Luca Pacioli's death (19 June 1517, according to a document preserved at the Convent of Santa Croce in Florence). In the run of the Conference, held at the Monastery of San Lorenzo de El Escorial in Spain in June 19, 2009, the scholars discussed a subject of large scientific relief: Accounting History as a privileged way to approach historical research.

The Second International Conference will be held the days 17, 18 and 19 June 2011 in Sansepolcro, Perugia and Florence. It will be organized jointly by the Centro Studi "Mario Pancrazi" and the Accounting History Commission of AECA, under the auspices of the Senato della Repubblica Italiana, Regione Toscana, Provincia di Arezzo, Provincia di Perugia, Comune di Sansepolcro, Università degli Studi di Siena, Università degli Studi di Perugia and Università degli Studi e-Campus, and the collaboration and support of Aboca, the Academy of Accounting Historians, Associação Portuguesa de Técnicos de Contabilidade -APOTEC, Banca Etruria, Comptabilite'S. Revue d'histoire des comptabilités, Comune di Firenze, Delsiena, Fondazione Cassa di Risparmio di Perugia, I.P.S.A.A. Pieve S. Stefano, Impresa Appennino Centrale, Istituto Professionale Alberghiero Caprese Michelangelo AR, the Italian Society of Accounting History, the Italian Society of History of Mathematics, Liceo "Città di Piero", and Sita, in collaboration with professors of different Italian and foreign persons, associations and economic and cultural entities, interested in the promotion of the study of mathematics and accounting history.

At the event will take part professors from Italian and foreign universities (among others from the Universities of Florence, León, London, Autónoma de Madrid, Perugia, Siena, Urbino), as well as eminent scholars, experts in accounting history, authors of studies on the Italian and European mathematical culture from the Renaissance up to present. The Conference will be articulated in three sessions: the first one will be developed in Sansepolcro and will focus on the paciolian contribution to the development of philosophical and scientific thought, on the growing influence of mathematical techniques and thought on all branches of learning, on the popularization of mathematics at the university and at the abacus schools, Luca Pacioli's teaching methods both at the abacus school and the university, the nature of accounting history as a methodological way to approach historical research in general, an so on. The second session will be held in Perugia and will stress Pacioli's work as a teacher of applied mathematics at the Studium Generale of Perugia, as an author of fundamental synthesis of doctrines and accounting practices, propagator of double-entry accounting, populariser of mathematical sciences and ambassador of the Renaissance in the world; the third one will be held in Florence and will illustrate Pacioli's contribution to modern mathematics. The sessions will not be lacking of contributions on economic and financial history nor on accounting events of entities reflecting civil, religious, formative and cultural aspects of the European and general history. The participants will be offered the opportunity to gaze at the Necrologium pacioliano preserved at the Convent of Santa Croce in Florence.
